ACTION PLANNEDShortridge Calls Meeting on Nye ResolutionLeaders Say That Rules Will Not Back OutNew Senator Makes Himself
Affable Despite Row

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13. (AP)—Early disposition of the contest facing Senator Grundy of Pennsylvania was planned today as Chairman Shortridge of the Elections Committee called a meeting for Monday to consider the Nye resolution to eliminate the newest Senator from membership.

Meanwhile, Senator Grundy, genial and affable to friends and critics, went to his room after a day of getting acquainted from the inside with the activities on which he has looked for so many days from outside his campaign for a high protective tariff bill.

Another of many strange coincidences which have featured Grundy's sudden entry into public life occurred today, when his first vote as a Senator happened to be to displace the tariff bill for which he has labored so hard.

The first roll call confronting him was on a motion to take up the Nye resolution, resolution and to displace temporarily the tariff bill.

He voted with fifty-nine other Republicans and Democrats to speed the act resolution.

In calling a meeting of the Elections Committee, Chairman Shortridge said he expects an early report will be made to the Senate on the resolution of Senator Nye, Republican, North Dakota. He said no statement has been announced.

Leaders of all factions in the Senate yesterday spoke against the Nye resolution, contending that the Senate is without authority to challenge the credentials of a legally serving Governor of a sovereign state.

Regardless of the legal argument, Senator Nye is standing by his contention that the Senate is not competent with its vote against William S. Vare of Pennsylvania—must reject Grundy.

GIRL WEDS AGAINReputed Friend of Hoover to Get $75,000Sugar Man Admits Huge Sum
Spent for "Influence"Letters Show Boosted "Drug"

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13. (AP)—Inquiring further into the relations between Edwin P. Shattuck and the Cuba Company, the Senate Lobby Committee learned today that he probably would be paid about $75,000 in view of his prominence and his intimacy with President Hoover.

Shattuck was employed by H. C. Lakin, president of the Cuba Company, to advocate a law to put sugar in the pending tariff bill.

The $75,000 sum was mentioned in a letter Lakin wrote to Verito Cordero of the Presidential Palace, Havana, last March, which was read while Lakin was a witness.

PAID FOR INFLUENCE
"In view of Shattuck's prominence and his intimacy with President Hoover, I expect that we shall pay Shattuck and his partner something like $75,000," the letter said.

Previously, Shattuck had testified that he "expected to receive $25,000 or more" for his efforts against imposing a high sugar duty.

The Cuba Company which employed him has large sugar holdings in Cuba.

He told the committee that Shattuck, who was Hoover's personal attorney, was employed partly because of his friendship with the President.

Shattuck said he believed that friendship would enable Shattuck to see the President and that Hoover would have confidence in him.

MISTAKEN IN BELIEF
Questioned today about the employment of Shattuck, the witness said he had been mistaken in believing Shattuck could see the President often.

"He can see the secretary," he said.

Frequent references to Shattuck were contained in a mass of correspondence which was obtained by a committee investigator from Lakin's files.

In a letter to President Machado of Cuba on March 15, Lakin said the "connection" of Shattuck with President Hoover "is our strongest weapon except your name and those of our Ambassador."

The day before Lakin wrote to Henry Walker of Palm Beach, Fla., president of the Atlantic Coast Line, that he had employed Shattuck "who for years has been Hoover's personal attorney."

"Shattuck and I spent two or three days each week in Washington and he has daily access to the President," it added.

Frequent references to Shattuck were contained in the correspondence to a "plan" proposed by President Hoover for the sugar tariff.

Lakin said he understood it was a sliding scale but said his information came from the newspaper.

A letter Lakin wrote to W. A. Chubb, president of the Cuban Sugar Corporation, Havana, on March 15, said:

"President Hoover has taken a direct hand. He has already suggested a possible solution to Senator Shattuck and to Mr. Shattuck, who has been working for three weeks on the suggestion and Senator Shattuck has a month, but nothing definite has yet resulted."

PROGRESS TOLD
In the letter to Machado Lakin said Chairman Shattuck of the Senate Finance Committee and Shattuck had conferred with President Hoover, who has instructed them to confer together.

"I have obeyed your instructions to work in co-operation with your committee," the letter added. "I am already on my way to Cuba. He will be able to inform you fully of what we are doing."

Lakin wrote that Gen. Enoch Crowder, former American Ambassador to Cuba, has been "at the disposal of the President" and at his disposal he plans to go to Washington on March 10 and remain there for several weeks.

His position in all branches of the government is so high and his real and ability so great that he will be able to accomplish much.

JUDGE CONLAN CONTINUED THE CASE TO Thursday to allow time for the Supreme Court ruling on the legality of the warrant.

Although Mrs. Lott did not appear personally, an affidavit was filed for her in Superior Court charging Mrs. K. Walters, her nurse, and Harry Cobb, her chauffeur, with aiding and abetting her in her escape.

The nurse was charged with a complete surprise to attorneys who are representing her to the extent of arguing the legality of a bench warrant for her arrest in order to locate her.

Attorneys Gordon and Hamilton, heretofore having no connection with the case, filed the affidavit, while Attorney Kingston, who previously had charged Mrs. Lott was married away from the home of Attorney Frank Golden of Los Angeles, was before Judge Conlan attempting to obtain an order for service of the bench warrant.

He passed through here a few months ago bound for Europe, former President Plutarco Elias Calles of Mexico returned today aboard the liner Bremen.

He was greeted by a group of high Mexican officials and a representative of the United States Department of State. Calles, smilingly, he answered many questions put to him by newspaper men concerning his own plans and the future of his country, which he painted in bright colors.

He was unwilling, however, to comment on dispatches from Laredo, Tex., which said a warrant had been issued there for his arrest on a charge of conspiracy in the slaying of two Mexican army officers.

SILENT ON DISPATCH
Calles and members of his party also were silent on a dispatch from Washington saying the State Department considers that the diplomatic visa in the former President's passport precludes any possibility of his arrest in the United States.

Senator Calles told reporters he has retired permanently from political life and is going to his ranch at Santa Barbara, Mex. He said he sees no possibility of further revolt in Mexico because the last election was conducted on democratic lines.

In Europe he studied plans for the reorganization of the Mexican railroad. Mexico, he said, is on the edge of important economic developments which will provide more work and better social conditions.

ORTIZ RUBIO GREETED HIM
After formal greetings aboard the liner and at the pier, Calles was escorted to the Pennsylvania Hotel, where shortly afterward President-elect Ortiz Rubio of Mexico arrived for the conference.

Among those who greeted Calles aboard the Bremen were Ambassador Teller of Mexico, Mexican Consul-General Ruiz and Alon Dowson, representing the United States Department of State.

Senator Calles said he will leave here tomorrow on his journey back to Mexico. He and his party plan to go by way of St. Louis, but the point at which they will cross the border is not known.

NOGALES (Son. Mex.) Dec. 13. (AP)—A clash between a band of 200 men and a detachment of Federal troops at Sahuaripa, a village about 100 miles east of Hermosillo, capital of Sonora, in which three men, including the band leader, were killed and twenty prisoners executed, was reported here today.

The encounter was disclosed by Gen. Pablo Macias, commander of Federal troops in Sonora, who said he had learned that a rebellious band would attempt to capture the village and establish headquarters there for operations in Sonora.

REPORT SCOUTED
Gen. Juan Rico, commander of Federal troops here, scoffed at the report of a possible rebellion, however, declaring he believed the band is but a remnant of the revolutionary army in Sonora last spring, which made an unsuccessful attempt to overthrow the government.

Gen. Rico said it is known that a band of about this number is hiding in the Sonora hills under Macario Cruz, one of the commanders of the last revolution. He said he believed they had attempted to take the town to obtain supplies.

LEADERS SLAIN
Gen. Macias said the band was headed by Francisco Flores, a supporter of Jose Vasconcelos, defeated candidate in the recent Mexican Presidential election, who is in the United States in exile. Flores and two of his lieutenants died in the battle and twenty of his followers were captured and executed.

Mexican officials here said they had information that Cruz had offered to raise an army to aid Vasconcelos in his fight against the government, but that Vasconcelos refused the proposal.

PROFESSOR OUSTED FOR BIBLE SLUR

Alabama Baptist School Has Trouble Over Remark Made by Biology Teacher

BIRMINGHAM (Ala.) Dec. 13. (P)—Dr. John C. Dawson, president of Howard College, a Baptist institution here, announced today he has requested and accepted the resignation of Dr. Horace Calvin Day, assistant professor of biology, because of adverse remarks Day is asserted to have made regarding the Bible during a recent chapel service.

"We should not give a too liberal translation to the Bible," Dr. Dawson quoted Dr. Day as saying.

Lee Galman of Tuscaloosa, a ministerial student, arose in the audience and protested.

The professor, Galman said, questioned the capacity of Noah's ark to accommodate two of each species of animals, and spoke disparagingly of Jonah's experience with the whale. His biological studies, Galman quoted Day as saying, had convinced him of the impossibility of a whale swallowing a man or of a man's ability to survive the experience.

Reached at his residence, Dr. Day expressed regret, and said Dr. Dawson asked for his resignation to avoid pressure from the ministerial students on the board of trustees. He said he has received offers from Stanford and the University of Indiana but is undecided which he will accept.

"I am as much of a Christian as anybody," Dr. Day continued. Dr. Day is 27 years of age. He came here last year from Stanford where he received his M.A. and Ph.D. degrees. He received his A.B. degree from Lawrence College.

Bill for Hospitals to be Reported

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13. (P)—The House Veterans Committee today instructed its chairman, Representative Johnson, South Dakota, to report a hospitalization bill to subsidize an expenditure of $13,700,000.

The measure would authorize $11,500,000 for additional hospitals for World War veterans.

A similar measure was approved by the committee last Congress but was not passed.

ADMITTS SCORING MYER

In cross-examination, Oscar Lawyer, chief of counsel for Mrs. McCormick, produced letters and records of conferences which he said showed disagreement among the guardians as far back as 1916. Mrs. McCormick frequently answered "I don't know" or "I don't recall" to his questions, she said, however, that she had been unsatisfied with progress made in her husband's case since 1916.

She admitted having criticized as "mediocre thinking and bad English" an address by the New York Scientific Society in 1926 by Dr. Adolph Myer of Chicago, at that time Stanley's personal physician. The address, she said, dealt with Dr. Myer's search for an endocrine treatment in Stanley's case and that she now agreed with his ideas of treatment.

Mrs. McCormick's cross-examination was not completed when court recessed. Judge Dehy will convene a forenoon session only tomorrow.

FEDERAL BUILDINGS BILL AIDED

House Committee Gives Its Approval to Measure for $230,000,000 Projects

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13. (P)—To enable expansion of the Federal government's huge public buildings program, the House Public Buildings Committee today approved the Elliott bill to provide $230,000,000 in addition to the sum already authorized for construction of post-offices and other Federal buildings.

The committee amended the bill to provide that $115,000,000 be expended throughout the country and a like amount in the District of Columbia. Only $100,000,000 originally was proposed for construction in the various States.

The proposed expenditure would supplement the $265,000,000 authorized by previous Congresses for construction purposes.

Chairman Elliott of the Buildings Committee said it is believed the increased construction fund will provide a postoffice where needed in every city having postal receipts of $20,000 or more annually, and further care for structures in about forty cities with yearly receipts of between $10,000 and $20,000.

Elliott said he hopes to call the measure up in the House Monday.

Natural flour

makes this new bread better

Brings you for first time true NATURAL flavor, greater food value. Bleaching of flour out of date

You can now serve bread made with natural flour (unbleached). This makes a great forward step in baking, introduced by Machechnie bakers.

Just as cherries change flavor with artificial coloring, so bread loses some of its goodness when flour is artificially bleached. This is why we use only unbleached flour.

Today Highland bread brings you the true goodness of natural wheat hearts unchanged. This bread costs more to make and requires greater care. But increasing thousands of Los Angeles mothers prove it is worth every extra effort. It costs you no more than ordinary bread.

Food experts point out that this naturally good bread brings you greater value than any other food or combination of foods.

For children, they say, ten slices daily supply more than half the food value needed for healthy happy growth.

The life-giving protein of Highland bread surpasses that of such worthy foods as eggs and milk. It replaces lost energy more generously than any other food for the price.

With the ready cut slices of Highland bread, children now help themselves to health. No fuss or bother for mother. They enjoy the richer natural flavor of Highland bread. Thus, more bread is eaten. Less of expensive foods need be served. Food costs are sharply reduced.

Our own blending method brings out all the richer goodness of natural ingredients in Highland bread. Our own Scotch twist gives each slice a texture fine and white as angel food.

Thus, you see we have brought you a decidedly improved bread. Because it is so much better you should serve it today. Thousands of your neighbors serve no other.

Look for the gay Scotch piper on the package at your grocer's. See the name Mack's Highland bread.

BOARD'S COTTON
EXPERT SCOREDCarl Williams B'arrie for

Senate Committee

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13. (AP)—Carl Williams, the cotton representative on the Farm Board, was charged in testimony before the Senate committee investigating cotton exchanges today by C. L. Stealey, former general manager of the Oklahoma Cotton Growers' Association, with being responsible for what he termed the board's failure to stabilize cotton and wheat prices.

Stealey testified that he had been "absolutely dependable" in the future course of the market. Stealey testified that co-operations, including the Oklahoma Association, had been in gambling operations by following Williams' advice.

"It seems logical," he said, "that this man would desire to protect his 'vestments' explaining that this could be done only by keeping the price down."

SLUMP CAUSE SOUGHT

The committee is investigating speculative activities on the New York, Chicago and New Orleans cotton exchanges in an attempt to ascertain the cause of the present depressed market.

Stealey's statements were denied in a telegram from the Oklahoma association, but Senator Heflin, Democrat, Alabama, a member of the committee, said the Farm Board had been "decidedly unfriendly" toward a proposal to raise the present loan basis from 16 to 20 cents a pound, as suggested by southern Senators.

Stealey urged that officers of the association be called, and Chairman Townsend said the committee will decide later.

The testimony of the Oklahoma man, who described himself as a farmer and producer as well as a newspaper editor, came in the midst of a long examination of J. P. Henahan, president of the New Orleans

County Judge Richards is playing Santa before Christmas Eve. It was learned today that he has arranged for Doris to go to the Wisconsin General Hospital at Madison, where physicians will attempt to graft her nose.

Cotton Exchange, and Edward S. Butler, its former president.

TRADING REDUCED

Butler contended that southern deliveries as denominated by the New York Cotton Exchange have been detrimental to speculation and have acted to intimidate investors and speculators in the cotton market. He said it has been impossible to get them to trade in cotton this year, resulting in the price being nearly a cent a pound lower than last year.

HUMANITARIAN EXPRESSION

He also expressed the opinion that the cause of the depressed market was due to threatened legislation by Congress and increasing competition of Indian cotton.

During the hearing a telegram from Chairman Legge of the Farm Board was read by Chairman Townsend. The telegram said that a conference of co-operations in Memphis, Tenn., had taken under consideration the suggestion that the loan basis for cotton be raised gradually, and that the "final conclusion" was to leave the proposal with the board. It added that the advisability of the proposal is "very doubtful."

Keeps High Place

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 13. (AP)—Dean Raymond Walters of Swarthmore College, in an article in the current issue of School and Society, declares that more colleges and universities report gains in attendance and fewer report losses this year than last year, according to statistics he gathered.

An upward trend is indicated in the smaller colleges—those having less than 1000 students. In 1935 this group had sixty-one instances of decrease and fifty-four of increase over 1934, whereas this year there are sixty-three increases and fifty-five decreases, the latter being slight.

In numerical rank the summary shows that the larger institutions continue to record the most numerous and the largest attendance increases. Of institutions having from 1000 to 3000 students forty-four report gains and twenty-one report losses. Of universities having enrollment of more than 3000 there are thirty-one reporting gains and eleven losses.

Dean Walters shows that the report of Dean Walters shows that the University of California continues to lead in full-time students and Columbia University in grand total attendance. California's enrollment, including both Berkeley and Los Angeles divisions, is 17,542 students. Columbia has 14,952 full-time students, but tops the entire country with 33,367 grand total attendance.

IN GRAND TOTAL ATTENDANCE

Two other New York City institutions rank second and third in numbers, with the University of California as fourth. They are the College of the City of New York, which reports 22,082 resident students, and New York University, which reports 26,418.

PLANT PEST CONTROL

Plant control and quarantine administration are given $1,708,800, an increase of $1,073,300 over the current year; $1,000,000 for European corn-borer control; $700,000 for pink boll-worm control, and $7,800 for Japanese and Asiatic beetle control.

THE BILL ALSO ALLOWS

$4,751,500 for agricultural experiment stations and $4,811,000 for co-operative and demonstration extension service. For the Bureau of Animal Industry, activities of which include quarantine, disease eradication, work, meat inspection and enforcement of the Packers' and Stockyards Act, $1,830,935 is allotted. The Bureau of Dairy Industry is allowed $722,785.

One of the largest allotments is for the Bureau of Plant Industry, amounting to $5,436,786, an increase of $220,817 over the present fiscal year. Of this sum $1,262,000 is for horticultural crops and diseases; $64,700 for blight rust control and

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13. (AP)—Expansion of the weather service provided for aviators and provision for continuance of the $75,000,000 extended to States by the Federal government for highway construction were recommended to the House today by its Appropriations Committee in reporting the annual supply bill for the Agriculture Department.

THE MEASURE DETAILED PLANS for an expenditure of $133,335,460 the coming fiscal year, an increase of $8,573,906 over the amount for the current fiscal period. Besides these funds the department would have available $11,618,436 provided for in permanent appropriations not requiring Congressional action each year.

MORE FOR WEATHER

Besides expanding aviation weather reports, the Weather Bureau is given funds to increase its information service on river and flood conditions and corn and wheat crops, and to the Forest Service for forest fire hazards.

PROVISION ALSO IS MADE to investigate atmospheric phenomena to ascertain more facts of value to aircraft.

Other provisions in the measure include $194,680 for extending the three-hourly weather reporting system to the San Francisco-Seaside and Chicago-Brownsville route and the six-hourly system on the Boston-Jacksonville airway; $25,500 for organizing a weather service over the southwestern sections of the country, extending from Kansas City, Fort Worth and Dallas westward to Los Angeles.

CALIFORNIA BULK

LARGE IN MEASURE

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Dec. 13. (Exclusive)—Items of peculiar interest to Los Angeles and Southern California, ranging from a $200,000 appropriation for a government chemical laboratory for the city to a $15,000,000 appropriation for irrigation water containing boron, which is killing fruit and nut trees in the southern section of the State, were included in the Agriculture Department appropriation bill placed before the House today.

Forest service appropriations, including funds for fire fighting, weather Bureau items for frost warning, soil erosion, money for rice research in California, fruit growing and animal diseases are dealt with in the bill, all with some significance to California and in particular to Southern California in particular.

When H. V. Burton, chief forester of the Department of Agriculture, testified before the Appropriations Committee, he said that the last year has been one of the worst in regard to forest fires in California. He said, instead of suffering one loss of every seven years, California has had three years out of five that were bad. Prolonged drought, he continued, has contributed to the increase of forest fires in California. As the result of his testimony appropriations for forest service were increased from $12,024,500 in 1934 to $15,708,750 for the next fiscal year.

Of this increase, amounting to more than $3,600,000, more than half goes to the improvement of the national forests.

MINNEAPOLIS, Dec. 13. (AP)—Policeman John C. Nordgaard had spent every night for two weeks behind a counter in the Arthur Charley Grocery waiting for a bandit.

LAST NIGHT A HOLD-UP MAN

made his fourth visit to the store in six weeks.

Other Nordgaard raised his shotgun, took careful aim and pulled the trigger. The hammer fell on an empty chamber.

The bandit escaped with $50.

FOREST SERVICE FUNDS

The Forest Service is allotted $15,708,750, an increase of $2,679,400, while $2,000,000 is proposed for acquisition of forest lands and $2,500,000 for improvement of national forests. Forest-fire co-operation work will be increased through an allotment of $1,700,000, greater by $200,000 than the present year.

The bill also carries $2,000,000 for the construction of the Mt. Vernon Memorial Highway, leading from Washington to home, George Washington's home.

The Appropriations Committee said the measure cut by $14,610 the largest recommendations. The committee announced it did not include in the bill any allotment for eradication of the Mediterranean fruit fly because a supplemental estimate of $15,000,000 for the work was received too late for incorporation in the measure.

FRESNO, Dec. 13. (Exclusive)—After reading dispatches from Washington today, Rev. George Brewster, pastor of the First Christian Church here, believes a woman who attempted suicide in the national capital may be his daughter, whom he has not heard from for five years.

MR. BREWSTER WAS NOTIFIED BY

Leon A. Shearer, assistant pastor of the Episcopal Church in Washington, that the girl had swallowed poison in the rectory of the church after telling an incoherent story concerning her identity and why she sought to end her life.

The Fresno minister who came here recently from Selma, said that he had not heard from his daughter Annette since she was married, against his wishes, to Clarence Hughes.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13. (AP)—Police tonight are watching at the bedside of a dying girl to learn from her semiconscious murmurs, if they can, who she is, why she took poison, in a fashionable Washington church, and more of the "murder" and "dope-rings" she has talked about.

Her serious condition has been aggravated by the development of double pneumonia and physicians despair, but her condition is being watched by an assistant rector in the church Wednesday afternoon, the girl, estimated between 22 and 25 years of age, took poison.

A baggage check bearing the name Annette Brewster, Selma, Cal., was found in her handbag. A Washington man unnamed by police, but today is thought her name is Gladys Carron.

Another man who gave his name as John Riley and who is believed to be a woman who lived past her hospital card told detectives he thinks her to be a girl he knew at Lakeland, Long Beach, Cal., and Glenview, Va., under various names. One of these was Gladys Carron, he said.

The board will make a formal request for the closing of Second street, north of the Roosevelt school, Ninth street south of the Lowell school, Monterey street south of the Williams school and Dolores street south of the Lincoln school.

In each instance the city school district owns property on both sides of the streets concerned and for some time past streets again have been used as a playground during school hours by erection of temporary wood barriers.

A CHUCKLE FOR EVERYBODY

THE SON OF TARZAN

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

A single tree grew a few feet from the window. Jim, the lad sprang for it—clinging outstretched for an instant to a branch before he jumped quietly to the ground. Close behind him came the great ape. Two hundred yards away a spur of the jungle ran close to the straggling town. Toward this he led the way. None saw them. A moment later the jungle swallowed them and the future Lord Greystoke passed from the eyes and the knowledge of men.

Beneath a palm tree in a little desert oasis, Capt. Armand Jacot of the Foreign Legion reclined at his ease, well content with this day's work. Near him his sun-tanned men prepared to eat after a twelve-hour ride. But that trip over the burning sands had not been in vain, for among the soldiers, silent and taciturn, awaited white-robed Arabs, securely bound and under heavy guard. No wonder the broad-shouldered captain felt well satisfied.

For a long hot month, he and his little troop had scoured the desert for this sin-stained band of marauders charged with the thefts of camels, horses and goats, and enough murders to have sent the whole unsavory gang to the guillotine several times over. At last he had come upon them. During a short fight he had lost two of his men and six of the Arabs had perished. But five were his prisoners now and best of all their ringleader, Achmet ben Houdin.

From the prisoners the captain's mind wandered to the little garrison, where, in one more day, he should find awaiting him, with eager welcome, his wife and little daughter. His eyes softened to the memory of them. Even now he could see the beauty of the mother reflected in the childish lines of little Jeanne's face. He fancied already he could feel the soft velvet of her rosy cheek as he held her in a loving embrace—tomorrow!

SKIPPER'S ASHES GO TO SEA

Capt. E. H. Jefferson's Last Wishes to Be Followed by Scattering His Incinerated Remains Upon Waters of Pacific from Ship's Deck

RIVERSIDE, Dec. 13.—In death Capt. E. H. Jefferson, retired sea captain and resident here for the past quarter century, will not be separated from the ocean. He learned to love through a long service on two oceans.

Within a few days a local undertaker will go aboard a boat that will go a "reasonable distance" from shore, carrying a small box. At an opportune moment the official will lean over the side of the ship, unheeding the small chest and watch settle down upon the turbulent ocean surface all that is mortal of Capt. Jefferson—his ashes.

Only one was cremated immediately after his funeral early this week, and the ashes delivered to the undertaker Wednesday. It was the captain's last wish, written into his will, that his body be thus disposed of, it was learned from his brother, H. H. Jefferson, of 432 Lemon street.

EVIDENCE SHOWS CONFLICT

Testimony by Attendants at Inquest on Death of San Diego County Farm Inmate Varies in Detail

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 13.—Conflicting testimony featured the inquest today into the death of Joseph Lee Woods, 44 years of age, who died Tuesday in the County Hospital as a result of injuries received early Monday morning at the Escondido County Farm, where he lived.

The inquest will be continued tomorrow with additional witnesses. It would have been practically impossible for Woods to have injured himself in a fall, Dr. John J. Shea, county autopsy surgeon, testified. Shea said death was due to a basal fracture of the skull. There was a contusion on the nose and bruising of the lips which were received about the same time as the skull was fractured, he said. Dr. Shea said Woods could have been hit in the face and knocked over backward, striking his head on a concrete floor.

SWEET-PEA SWEEPSTAKES ON

Second Annual Alhambra Neighborhood Sporting Event Blooms With Sensational Charges as Contestants Infer Rival's Methods Unethical

ALHAMBRA, Dec. 13.—The second annual South Fourth-street sweet-pea sweepstakes promises to be an exciting event. The race is now in full swing, with the finish line at Christmas, when the 1929 South Fourth-street bouquet cup will be awarded with fitting ceremony.

To the uninformed it should be explained that the South Fourth-street sweet-pea sweepstakes is a contest started last year between Frisbie Arnold of 924 South Fourth street and W. C. Meade of 927 South Fourth street, to jockey the most sweet peas into bloom at Christmas. Although they are neighbors and maintain an outwardly friendly feeling toward each other, there exists a bitter rivalry which at times threatens to burst into open warfare.

Having spent five days and six nights crossing the continent by easy jumps, Carnegie Tech's grid outfit arrived yesterday morning at the Coliseum for the first of the two-round tournament at the Coliseum this afternoon and will probably play on a dry field before 50,000 fans. Rain, scheduled early in the week, has entirely disappeared and indications are that the game will be an offensive battle featuring a lot of forward passing.

This year was supposed to deal with the Tech team, what the players looked like individually, how fast they ran and how they played up physically in contrast to the Trojans.

But Judge Waller stifled the story. Yesterday morning he received his invitation to take a look at the boys during their workout in the afternoon. However, upon our arrival at Tournament Park Himmer couldn't recall the date nor could he be persuaded to let a mere reporter into the inner sanctum. The judge was very firm about it, overruling our objection and that left us with nothing to do but peep through the fence as best we could.

CHICAGO, Dec. 13.—The battle, not of the century, but of the decade, will take place in Chicago early in January between Charles "The Dugout" Shires and Lewis "Whisper" Wilson, "the Dempsey of the Dugout."

The matter came to the attention of the Chicago boxing commission when Shires, who is a former champion, was scheduled to fight in the city. Shires, who is a former champion, was scheduled to fight in the city.

HACK MORE RETIRING
Hack Wilson, round and fragile, is of more retiring disposition but he is not without his fight. His activity in this line has been recognized by the National League, which upon occasion has fined and suspended him when he became hostile to the peace and dignity of the baseball field.

ANGELS BUY WIN BALLOU

Right-Handed Twirler is Obtained from Brooklyn; Newcomer Rated Smart, Willing Worker

BY BOB RAY
Manager Jack Lelivelt and Oscar Reischow, who have apparently been having a tough time lining up players to strengthen the Los Angeles club for the 1930 season in their quest for talent at the Chattanooga minor league and New York major league meetings, wired home yesterday that they had purchased Pitcher Win Ballou from the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Little is known about Ballou's ability in these parts, but Lelivelt had him when he was managing the Milwaukee Brewers in 1928, and believes he will prove a winner for the Angels.

According to Secretary Boos Weber, Lelivelt claims that Ballou is a smart checker and knows what he's all about. The Angels manager also vouches

TORNADO PICKED TO WIN

Santa Barbara High Eleven Favored to Cop Prep Title from Long Beach Today

BY IRVING ECKHOFF
Back in Iowa, when a tornado is seen on the horizon, the natives dive into their storm cellars until after the excitement has ended. Therefore, it will be interesting to watch the reaction of "Little Iowa" as Long Beach sometimes is humorously called, when Santa Barbara High's Golden Tornado invades Burcham Field for a football whirl with the unbeaten Jackrabbits eleven to decide the Southern California prep grid championship today.

As far as favorites go, Coach Clarence Schutte's Tornado has a slight edge and has a good chance for the first time in the history of the institution to take a Southland football title. The Channel City eleven is in great shape in spite of the story circulated early in the week that five of the regulars were down with the "flu." And, according to reports from the north, the Tornado team is out to avenge itself on the Jackrabbits because of

VON PORAT SUSPENDED BY NEW YORK OFFICIALS

NEW YORK, Dec. 13. (Exclusive) The punch that "incapacitated" Phil Scott, the English heavyweight, in the second round of his recent fight with Otto von Porat in the Garden the other night, landed on his right thigh and not in the groin. So stated Dr. William W. Walker, examining physician for the State Athletic Commission, in his official report today. The doctor took soundings of

Jewish Boy Thrice Dug for Count at Garden

Throng of 19,000 Spectators Pays $109,000

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, NEW YORK, Dec. 13. (AP)—Blue-eyed Jimmy McLarnin, that flaming kid from the d y n a m i t e hands and deceptively smiling baby face, crushed an experimental Ruby Goldstein, pride of the Jewish race, tonight with a searing, i w o - r o u n d knockout that turned 19,000 of the faithful into a howling, raving mob of worshippers.

In a battle that lived up to all the promises of the raucous ballyhoo, the socking Celt from Vancouver packed into the short-lived struggle three minutes and fifty-two seconds of swift, stunning action that sent the customers reeling from the arena.

Three times in that short time, McLarnin, the cold killer, smashed the hero of the Ghetto to the floor, first for a count of nine in the opening round, again for a nine count at the start of the second round and finally for a tell that could have been 100, without giving Ruby any opportunity to carry on the hopeless struggle. It was as brilliant and fearful a punching exhibition as this battle-scarred arena has ever seen.

Tonight was the night Goldstein had set for his great comeback, his final effort to prove to his countrymen that their faith in his speed, his boxing ability, and great punching power had not been misplaced. It was to be the trial of fire for the self-mannered, handsome little chap who looks, acts and thinks more like a poet than gladiator.

GAME TO THE CORE

Many times in the past the imaginative Ruby, aptly termed the Jew of the Ghetto, had failed. Sometimes his vivid imagination, bane of a fighting man, sent him

Bill Driver Loses Post at Loyola

Bill Driver's contract as coach of the Loyola University football team was terminated yesterday, Father Sullivan, president of the Jesuit institution, announced.

The ending of the contract went into effect immediately. No reason for the move was given, but announcement of a new coach will be made soon. Father Sullivan declared.

The Lion grid squad enjoyed only average success this year, and officials at the institution are said to place the blame for the mediocre showing on Driver.

AVALON (Catalina Island) Dec. 13. Taking them in the order named, the golfers with the "up-hill-and-down-dale" complex, who topped the list today, are Ray Maunum of Los Angeles, "Wild William" Melhorn of New York, Charlie Guest of Los Angeles, Chee Bear of the Stockdale Country Club, Henry

LIBERTY DRAFT FIND DOUBT

Declaration of Independence Original Never Located

Expert Believes Printer Took Up After Copying

Fakes Cause Periodical Discovery Reports

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13. (U.S. Press.)—The fate of the draft of the Declaration of Independence, which was given by John Adams to the printer, William J. Christopher, in 1776, and which was supposed to be one of the most valuable historical manuscripts in the world, has been found to be a mere fiction.

This has been proved by the discovery of a number of copies of the draft, which were found in the hands of various persons in the city of Philadelphia. The discovery was made by a group of men who were searching for the original draft, which was supposed to be in the hands of a certain person.

JEFFERSON COPIES FOUND
What is considered to be the original draft of the Declaration of Independence, which was signed by Thomas Jefferson, has been found in the hands of a certain person. The discovery was made by a group of men who were searching for the original draft, which was supposed to be in the hands of a certain person.

Jefferson then, it is asserted, was not referring to the parchment copy but to the paper copy. The discovery was made by a group of men who were searching for the original draft, which was supposed to be in the hands of a certain person.

COURT TO RULE ON PAY FIXING

Supreme Tribunal to Render Decision Later

Action Involves Rights of State Departments

Denial of Secretary Salary Increase Contested

The State Supreme Court yesterday, just before adjournment, took under submission a case which, attorneys declare, upon decision will settle the question of whether a District Court of Appeal has the inherent right to name the salaries of its officers and whether that right is vested in the State Department of Finance. A decision upholding the Department of Finance, it is said, will place the department in the position to dictate to the judicial and legislative departments, the manner in which they shall spend funds allotted to them.

The case revolves around the fight launched in the Supreme Court by Mrs. Maudie McInnis, secretary in the Second District Court of Appeal, last August, against Ray L. Riley as State Controller, and is for the purpose of forcing payment of back salary due her since July 1 of this year. The action is in the nature of a test case and involves the salaries of several other court officials.

Arguments before the Supreme Court yesterday showed that the District Court of Appeal in making up its budget for July 1, 1935, to June 30, 1936, included salaries of $2,000 a month each for the judges, and $1,000 a month each for the clerks. The budget formally was approved by the various government branches. In accordance with its salary estimates the court on July 1 increased the salaries of the clerks from $800 to $1,000 a month. The State Department of Finance refused to honor the salary warrants or pay the salaries. This condition has continued for two months since the beginning of the year. It is asserted by Mrs. Riley, who is represented in court by Dep. Atty. Gen. Cleary.

REPORT ON EPIDEMIC ACCEPTED

City Health Officer Says Conditions at Eagle Rock Water Reservoir Cleared

The Health Commission yesterday accepted the report of Dr. George Parrish, city health officer, that the situation at Eagle Rock, where ninety-four school children and fifty others suffered illness after drinking water from the reservoir, has been cleared up and that the water is a clean incident.

Dr. Parrish stated that the department is not informed of it until the 7th day of the epidemic. The report of the Health Commission, the latter decided to make a report to the city Department of Water and Power for a conference the latter part of next week, when the matter of prompt reports to the health department may be discussed.

Actress Denies She's Engaged to Hoot Gibson

It's possible for an actress to be seen places in Hollywood in the company of an actor without every body thinking they are engaged. Miss Helen Miller is one of the actresses who like many other film actresses, wanted to answer to the question.

Of late Miss Miller and Hoot Gibson, popular western star, have been seen much in each other's company; so much that everybody in the screen colony believes they are engaged. Miss Miller said yesterday such reports are untrue.

"We are very good friends and I like to go out with him, but that's all," Miss Miller added.

"Do you think you will ever be married?" she was asked.

"I let you know if the time ever comes," was her reply.

Miss Miller is a Wisconsin baby who started in Hollywood in a minor role in a picture and then came to prominence in films after discovery by Mack Sennett. For a number of years Gibson has been leading western star and Miss Miller has played the lead in some of his recent dramas.

EMPLOYMENTS ADVANCE

The City Council yesterday adopted three ordinances of intention of more than usual importance. They are the De Soto Street and Community Street Improvement District, which includes five miles of street, set for hearing January 20; the paving of La Tuna Canyon Road for about 100 feet to a point approximately two miles east of Wilshire street, set for hearing January 21; and the widening of Fifth street to provide for a sidewalk from Grand avenue to Hope street, set for hearing January 17.

LECTURE BY DR. ROMAN CALLED OFF

Educator Quits Program of Teachers' Voluntary Following Protests

Dr. Frederick W. Roman, educator and lecturer, will not appear as a speaker at the Los Angeles City Teachers' Institute next week. His withdrawal, he said yesterday, was wholly voluntary and the step was taken because he did not wish to embarrass the Board of Education.

"I have always been a supporter of the Constitution of the United States, and I never have been an advocate of Communism. It is a form of government which I am convinced never will become permanent."

"Criticism has resulted from my statement that the young Russians are pledged to obtain from the use of liquor and tobacco in every form. In making that statement I merely reported what I saw and what I know to be a fact. The assertion that I have refused to salute our flag is untrue, and I can prove that I have always responded when the salute was made."

When Dr. Roman's name was announced as an Institute speaker, letters of protest were sent to members of the Board of Education and to the Los Angeles Times. The protests were signed by Mrs. Frank Schaefer, president of the Board of Education, and by Mrs. A. B. Smith, superintendent of schools. Among the protestants were Mrs. Frank Schaefer, president of the Board of Education, and by Mrs. A. B. Smith, superintendent of schools. CITY HOSPITAL GAIN REVEALED

Cause of skull fracture totaled 600 last year, 674 this year. Horse-and-wagon accidents were sixteen last year and thirteen this year.

Chief Surgeon Dodge reports that the city receiving hospitals treat all city prisoners, policemen, firemen, wood accident cases, and such private accident cases as constitute emergencies.

Georgia Street Receiving Hospital is the principal city institution, and handles the greater number of cases. Pasadena Avenue Receiving Hospital is operating on district-hour schedule daily, and Hollywood cases are treated by the Dickey & Case Emergency Hospital under contract with the city. Subhospitals of the city receiving hospital system are located at Wilmington, San Pedro, Venice, Seaside, and Van Nuys.

Dr. Dodge reports that, during the year, construction of a Hollywood receiving hospital has been begun, at a cost of $43,000 for the building. This will be ready for occupancy March 1, 1936. The chief surgeon also calls attention to the fact that during this year, the receiving hospitals took over the majority of all police ambulances, releasing the police formerly in charge, for police duty. At present, he has under him thirty-six ambulance surgeons and thirty-six ambulance drivers, working in three shifts.

The Esperanto Club of Los Angeles will have three honor guests at a banquet tonight at the Windsor Hotel in memory of the birth-day anniversary of Dr. L. L. Zamenhof, founder of the universal language. In every city the world over, including Japan and Finland in California, Esperantists have arranged similar banquets. Dr. P. F. He wishes to give the product through charitable and welfare societies. The ice cream will be in brick form, sliced and wrapped for distribution. Welfare organizations wishing to distribute this delicacy to children, who otherwise might not have it on Christmas Day, are asked to telephone W. O. Jefferson, sales manager, at HUmboldt 7765. KILLING IN CHINA

The Chinese troops ran gloriously away from the Russian soviet; but seem to have had no aversion to a civil war battle in which 2000 were killed. There is a great difference in war between courage and "the will to win."

FEDERAL SHIP AID ADVOCATED

Capt. Petersen Gives Talk to Chamber Gathering

Government Help Declared to Be Vital Factor

Port Called Greatest Asset That Los Angeles Has

The American merchant marine requires government aid in order to compete successfully with the ships of other lands in foreign trade. Capt. Walter J. Petersen, general manager of the Marine Bureau, believes. He addressed a joint meeting yesterday sponsored by the manufacturers' and industries committee of the Chamber of Commerce and attended by the chamber's committee on transportation, trade, construction industries and harbor, foreign commerce and shipping.

As the start of the World War, American ships, he said, carried 90 per cent of this country's foreign-trade tonnage and this was built up to 40 per cent, but since this point has decreased steadily. Last year this country was seventh in ship construction, he said.

REASON ASSIGNED

This condition, Capt. Petersen ascribes to the construction of more modern cargo carriers in foreign countries, notably England, because of the higher cost of ship building in America, due largely to higher wages paid in this country. While favorable to the maintenance of the higher cost of ship building in America, due largely to higher wages paid in this country. PROTESTS ON QUARRY PILING UP

Many Send Council Their Objections to Bell Plans as Hearing Approaches

Protests against the action of the City Planning Commission in granting Alphonse Bell a permit to construct a quarrying and rock-crushing mill in the Santa Monica Mountains continued yesterday to roll into the City Council, which will conduct a public hearing on the matter the afternoon of January 8.

The following letter from R. C. Cox of 410 N. Hollywood avenue, Pacific Palisades, was received yesterday:

"As a home owner and possessor of vacant property in Pacific Palisades, I sincerely trust you will feel it your duty to save us from the menace quarrying now threatening in the Santa Monica Mountains. I bought my property with the guarantee that no industrialism would come within its borders, having previously sold out and moved from Long Beach because of this. We look to you to help us preserve the sacredness of our homes in this beautiful area. We request you to revoke the granting of a permit to operate this quarry which will result in much injury to us and the possible ruin to other parts."

plan was on foot for the creation of a separate traffic division to handle the growing traffic problem in the city and to have the Chief of the division of it. It was reported that the Chief was inclined to favor it.

The proposal to file the charges, however, apparently has halted this plan.

The Chief was directed to attend the meeting of the commission this morning.

IT WAS FRIDAY THE 13TH

"Unlucky? I should say not! It brought a shower of lovely presents to me!"

That's what little Ruth Orndorff had to say about Friday the 13th. For, you see, it was Ruth's birthday; and, what is more, she was 13 years of age. With utter disregard of the ill-fortune with which tradition credits—or, rather, discredits—the day, Ruth gave a birthday party in her home at 1393 Oran street; and her guests numbered exactly thirteen. They were selected from her chums at Serrano Junior High school, where she is a student.

Two "Friday the 13th" sentences were imposed yesterday in traffic court, the defendants in each case gaining, instead of losing, by the sentence.

Judge Valentine, after August Miller, last driver of 1393 Oran street, pleaded guilty to failure to stop at a red light, imposed a fine of $15. "I'm making it $15 instead of the usual $10 just to show you the 13th is not always unlucky," the court declared.

Judge Swain, J. R. Campbell of Norwalk pleaded guilty to reckless driving on La Mirada boulevard. "I'll make it thirteen dollars in jail instead of the usual fifteen," Judge Swain said. "That will let you out on Christmas morning."

SANTA MONICA, Dec. 13—Friday

The 13th of December, a day of bad luck to many, was a day of good luck to many in Santa Monica. Sixty motorists arrested on violations of the state highway regulations were in from all points of the compass.

"Two dollars!" said Police Judge Spencer. He pronounced the same stern words sixty times in succession.

"But that's not half as unlucky as it's going to be for the forty kids who were in the car with them," the judge declared after adjourning court and turning the calendar over for the next day's justice.

PROTESTS ON QUARRY PILING UP

Many Send Council Their Objections to Bell Plans as Hearing Approaches

Protests against the action of the City Planning Commission in granting Alphonse Bell a permit to construct a quarrying and rock-crushing mill in the Santa Monica Mountains continued yesterday to roll into the City Council, which will conduct a public hearing on the matter the afternoon of January 8.

The following letter from R. C. Cox of 410 N. Hollywood avenue, Pacific Palisades, was received yesterday:

"As a home owner and possessor of vacant property in Pacific Palisades, I sincerely trust you will feel it your duty to save us from the menace quarrying now threatening in the Santa Monica Mountains. I bought my property with the guarantee that no industrialism would come within its borders, having previously sold out and moved from Long Beach because of this. We look to you to help us preserve the sacredness of our homes in this beautiful area. We request you to revoke the granting of a permit to operate this quarry which will result in much injury to us and the possible ruin to other parts."

The government seeks cancellation of the leases, an injunction against further use of the oil fields and an accounting of previous profits obtained.

The case will be resumed before Judge Norcross on Monday.

Co-Eds at Work on Float

O-EDS and men students at the University of Southern California last night put aside their books for hammers, saws and paint brushes to work most of the night on the sixty novel floats which will parade today as a highlight of the closing Homecoming Week at the university.

The students designed and constructed most of the entries, floats which are intended to portray some phase of homecoming or of the fifty-year history of the university.

The floats are being worked on in the gymnasium at the university. The floats are being worked on in the gymnasium at the university.

PLEA FOR COURT ENDS INSTITUTE

I say, it seems to me, then, that it is highly unlikely we shall be able to contribute much to any plan for the settlement of international disputes.

He gave a masterly and comprehensive review of the history of the World Court and of the efforts to have the United States join it, and of the offer to join with the Senate's five reservations to the protocol. The other powers agreed to four and one-half of the five reservations, he pointed out, but could not agree with the Senate on that half of the fifth reservation.

A commission of jurists, the United States represented by Elihu Root, proposed a compromise on the disputed point, it was accepted by the President, approved by the Senate, and now is before the Senate.

After predicting from his study of history, that the United States would not strive as she no longer would against it, he said: "No country has so much to gain from peace as the United States. The world has dreamed for a long time of some sort of an international supreme court of all nations."

"The sacrifice is not great that we are being asked to make. It seems to me we have an opportunity, for I feel that we are at the cross roads of history in this matter. It may be that our national interests and our desire to avoid entanglements may justify our refusal to join, it is for us to decide."

CALIFORNIA ISSUE

"But it is of particular significance to us here in Southern California. It is for us to decide whether we will follow a California President or a California Senator."

In closing the session with his address on the part good will plays in promoting international relations, Dr. Von Kleinfield said: "Good will must recognize the responsibility of the strong for the weak, the well for the ill, the rich for the poor. If we make any progress in civilization, we make progress all together. The world is too small for us to live apart."

ACTOR POST DIVORCED BY WIFE'S SUIT

Noted Stage Player Does Not Contest Action of Mate at Santa Ana

A divorce from Guy Bates Post, noted stage actor, was granted Mrs. Adele R. Post yesterday by Judge Allen in the Superior Court, Santa Ana, after the wife had testified briefly in support of her complaint of desertion. Post did not appear to contest the suit.

The divorce action was filed a property settlement which gives Mrs. Post $1000 in cash, and $300 a month until she marries again. The Posts have no children.

Mrs. Post testified that she and the actor were married in Toronto, Can., November 3, 1916, and that they separated October 1, 1929. Following that time she said, Post has refused to live with her. When she filed her divorce action, the defendant's identity was veiled, it being given merely as G. B. Post. Not until Mrs. Post had testified yesterday was the judge and court aware that the defendant was named as the actor who appeared recently on Los Angeles stages. He is now appearing in Hollywood in a stage play.

Mrs. Post lives at Laguna Beach, where she is a leader of a little theater movement. She has appeared there in plays presented by that group.

TRAIN WRECKER REPEATS GUILT

Vernon Hearing Once More Occupies Court

Admitting five prior convictions, Tom Vernon, confessed wrecker and robber of the Southern Pacific Company's West Coast Limited near Saugus, yesterday again pleaded guilty to train-wrecking and one count of robbery before Judge Aggeler in Superior Court. The repulsive procedure, similar in practically every detail to that of Thursday when he pleaded to the original indictment, was necessitated by the grand jury's return of an amended bill naming the previous convictions.

Following the plea Judge Aggeler again set next Tuesday, the 17th inst., at 2 p. m., as the time at which Vernon will be sentenced, and again asserted that yesterday was the last time he would appear in court for sentencing.

The prior convictions in the amended indictment were charged by the grand jury, it is understood, in order that the court may feel assured that the defendant is a lawbreaker and that the law should be enforced. The defendant is a lawbreaker and that the law should be enforced.

HOPE INDICATED

The hope robbery case to which Vernon is being sentenced, is that of the robbery of the Southern Pacific Company's West Coast Limited near Saugus, yesterday again pleaded guilty to train-wrecking and one count of robbery before Judge Aggeler in Superior Court.

CHINA TROUBLES DISCUSSED

Dr. Eason M. Gale, lecturer in oriental languages at the University of California, outlined some of the elements in the contest for the Chinese Eastern Railway. The dispute between Russia and China largely is the cause of the trouble in China and the present trouble, he said. As to the move made by Secretary Stimson in addressing a reminder on the Kellogg-Briand peace pact, Dr. Gale felt that it was a proper move based entirely upon unselfish motives. He remarked that Communism was nothing new to China. She had tried it in the eleventh century.

Household Needs and Timely Suggestions by

The following news is of such great importance that I feel I must repeat it for any of my readers who missed the message last week. My Christmas suggestion was for you by all means to see that the family secured one of these beautiful Ben Hur de luxe all-china healthful coffee makers!

These coffee makers in this all-china make the clearest, most delicious coffee taste imaginable. You see there is no chemical change in the beverage due to erosion of metal caused by the acid tannic content of the coffee.

Also these coffee makers make a healthful beverage because they eliminate the resinous, turpentine-like taste and check the release of the bitter astringent. Tannic acid, which two substances are the reason for nerve headaches, sour, bilious indigestion and other distressing symptoms than any other known cause.

Christmas dinner and New Year's Eve, too, at Travaglini's Cafe, San Clemente

San Clemente, Calif., doesn't the idea appear to you that it is such a glorious motor trip down with such a sumptuous repast awaiting you and your arrival at San Clemente is just a short two hours' drive on the coast highway... half-way between Los Angeles and San Diego.

Of course, you will give a box of "Uccello" stationery for a Christmas gift. It consists of 200 sheets of paper and 100 envelopes with your name and address on the paper and flap of envelope, all for the small cost of $1. Orders are filled up to the 22nd by the way. Write to the Uccello Co., 3457 Virginia ave. (HOLLY 1155) for samples. All orders mailed free.

Take two pounds of rosin and one pound of tallow. Melt in a heavy saucepan over a low fire. Fill it with lumps of paper, spread while hot, with a brush, over sheets of any paper and place about rosin and while still soft add enough sweet oil or lard to make it spread like butter. When cooled, honey, spread on writing paper.

Even auditors are made like new by the Peeries Plasters of 23 1-2 S. Spring st. (upstairs.) So if you have any which are in need of re-burnishing take them to this excellent shop right away—for these are the days you have use for them. The cost will be small, of that you are assured, while the work is done in the best possible fashion.

For a pretty window-shade for the bathroom or kitchen, use wallpaper containing a colorful bouquet or other attractive design; cut out the designs and paste them on the shade and cover them with two coats of colorless enamel.

Do not put off any longer sending your old carpets to the Hoffman Rug Works of 2314 W. Jefferson St. to have them made into Pluff Rugs. Let's attend to this right away and make a number of those luxurious Color Rugs from rags. Empire 2018 is their phone number.

When white window shades become unbearably soiled, or faded, or stained, dip them in a solution of ammonia and water for a nice extra shade.

Always ask for "Mayflower" Potato Chips when you order them from your grocer, because there is no doubt about it—they are utterly delicious at all times and for all occasions! Have you ever tried spreading them with peanut butter, as an appetizer? They are different this way and so very good. Don't forget, Mayflower Potato Chips "sold at the better stores," is what you should buy.

For stiffening lace curtains gum arabic is best, as starch rots them. Dissolve two ounces of gum arabic in one pint of boiling water, strain and bottle; keep tightly corked. Add a dessert spoonful of this for each pint of cold water and dip the lace curtains into it.

When making net curtains, pin the hems with invisible hairpins before stitching. They will not slip out like ordinary pins and no basting is necessary.

Union Pacific System, used to and from East Los Angeles station for transcontinental passengers.

The city of Los Angeles will be represented by Councilman Earl Kern, who comes from that district; Fire Chief Scott and other civic leaders.

Following the parade and pageant there will be street dancing and speaking at East Ninth street and Telegraph Road, starting at 7:30 p. m. Music for this event will be furnished by a Hawaiian orchestra.

RIDING A FREE HORSE

If there is one city on the Pacific Coast that should be careful and conservative of its water supply, that city is Los Angeles. Situated in the southern part of California, where the annual rainfall averages lowest, one would expect, if anywhere, to find here a smaller consumption of water per capita, and stricter regulations as to its use, than in cities farther north.

Yet the contrary is the fact. Los Angeles not only is the heaviest user of water, but is also the least restricted in that use. This, too, in spite of the expense incurred in building the aqueduct to bring a supply here from the snows of mountains 250 miles away. The following figures, giving the annual consumption per capita, speak for themselves:

Portland	110 gallons
Seattle	105 gallons
San Francisco	84½ gallons
Oakland	80 gallons
Los Angeles	120 gallons

Soaking wet Portland and extremely moist Seattle, on the face of things, should be able to frugal with their use of water, than the arid Los Angeles. That Portland's consumption of water should be less than ours is particularly surprising. San Francisco and Oakland, with their better facilities for securing water, are unable to be as liberal with it as the people of Los Angeles.

We, of this large metropolitan area, have been to the present time the only unrestricted city on the coast in the employment of water at all times and for any purpose. That is a boon to be thankful for. But if we have abused the privilege—and there are evidences in plenty that some of us have done so—there is an extravagance to be ashamed of. It is time we took stock of supply and demand.

Unless we have copious rains before the end of our wet season we cannot expect to continue the present immunity from bars and restrictions in sprinkling lawns, irrigating gardens and neglecting leaky faucets which we have so long enjoyed. In the graveness of San Fernando Valley there is some water stored, due to the irrigation carried on there in the last ten years and available through pumping to augment our present supply.

San Francisco is looking to the construction of the Tuolumne Dam to give its citizens as stable a water supply as we are obtaining from the Owens River. By tapping Mono Lake and the Walker River watershed we could undoubtedly increase the flow through our aqueduct. But these projects are still in the future. Our Oxnard River is ten years away. There is nothing in the future to warrant carelessness and neglect on the part of any water user. There is danger in riding a free horse to death.

SENATOR GRUNDY

Now that Joseph R. Grundy, president of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers' Association, has been appointed and sworn in as Senator from Pennsylvania, in place of William S. Vare, to whom the Senate denied a seat, some interesting developments may be expected. One is promised by Senator Nye, who made a vain effort to prevent the admission of the oath and who says he will carry his fight before the Committee on Privileges and Elections.

Nye attacked Grundy for raising campaign funds for the 1928 primary election, and did not advance on the Senate floor. Grundy's candidacy was opposed by Fisher of Pennsylvania, who is morally unit to appoint a Senator because large amounts of money were spent in his campaign.

Since no one, not even Nye, denies that Fisher is Governor of Pennsylvania, in fact and in law, and since no one had a right moral or other, to name a man for this vacancy, Nye's contention amounts to a declaration that Pennsylvania must do without a second Senator until one can be chosen in an election which Nye considers sufficiently pure. If the Senate accepted any such theory, the last vestige of State rights and State authority would disappear, and the Constitution would be junked and it would be time for Mussolini to be called in.

One of the first acts of any sane dictator would be to exile Senator Nye, so the chances would not be all lost, but the country can hardly be said to be ready for it.

It is a safe prediction, therefore, that Senator Grundy's credentials will be approved and that he will be a colorful and useful Senator. He has great ability as well as caustic tongue, and his legislative shame and honor will be the Senate is so fond of get no aid from him. His influence will be on the side of sanity and conservatism, and if he remains in the Senate his influence may be expected to grow. If the voters of Pennsylvania are normal human beings, Grundy's candidacy will be fully aided by Senator Nye's frothing, and if the sniping in Grundy's direction should become general it would make his election a walkover.

DON'T FORGET THE CHEST

At the present writing our Community Chest still lacks some $600,000 of the sum needed to provide the minimum required for adequate care of our poor and needy for the year ahead of us. Los Angeles looks forward to taking its place at the next census as one of the first four cities of the United States. We do not want any rider attached to that distinction. We do not want to rank lower in facing our responsibilities than we do in accepting our advantages.

Our volunteer workers are not relaxing their efforts to make their good deeds of time and their service effective. They too have their Christmas duties and pleasures to distract them, but they stick to the job of filling their respective quotas. The school division has set the community a splendid example by going over the top to the tune of 168.71 per cent. Residential districts, business and industrial districts, amusement districts will surely follow where the schools have led the way, that the chest may forthwith be filled and our volunteer workers released from their labor of love.

Yuletide cheer and liberality are in the air. Our downtown streets are gay with decorations and resonant with music. The store windows glisten with the beauty of their wares fitted in holiday attire and displayed in the true Christ-

LEE SIDE O' LA

by Lee Shippey

WE HAVE cherished the belief that children should be reared in wide-open spaces, but since we met the Dukes we don't know.

The Dukes have four boys, as we have. But they are not like our twenty-mule-team quartet. When our boys are at table you might hear a pin drop, if it were a rolling pin and dropped on a dishpan. Any lesser sound would be lost in the babel.

We have heard old-fashioned parents say that children should never speak at the table, except when spoken to. And our boys don't speak. They seem to think, when it occurs to them to say anything, that nothing else in the world is of quite so much immediate importance as their telling what we often feel our head off, telling them to be quiet, we somehow don't seem able to get the desired result.

Unrecognizable Species

So when the Dukes came to see us we thought, at first, that their four boys must be dumb. It took us some time to realize that they were communicating with each other in murmurous tones. So we got Duke off to a far corner, where we could be heard, and asked for the recipe.

"It is because they were reared in the East," we asked, for the Dukes came recently from Ohio.

"No," he answered, in a voice we had to lean forward to hear. "I don't think eastern kids are much different from western kids. It's just because we live in a bungalow court."

How to Hear Yourself as Others Hear You

We told him we'd bite, so he went ahead: "You see we live in a two-apartment bungalow, and have close neighbors on both sides. Or perhaps I should say, neighbors close on both sides, as they're really very neighborly. But pretty thin walls are thick enough out here, so far as weather is concerned. They keep the weather out but don't keep the sound in. We often can hear the couple on our right planning their week-end excursions and the couple on our left arguing about how that last bridge hand should have been played. And one day, when I'd just been reproving the boys in what I thought was a mild and dignified manner, I heard the woman in the right-hand house remark, casually, to her husband:

"There's that man next door, yelling at his kids again."

What Makes Children Noisy

"It was a shock. A few minutes later I started to say 'Keep quiet, you kids,' and stopped myself in the midst of it, and dropped my voice to a whisper. The boys thought something had happened to my voice. They were so alarmed that they actually listened to what I said.

"That was the beginning. Ever mas spirit. The good will of the season is infectious. All hearts are open. Our volunteers go on with the appeal for the helpless, hand in hand with the general call for giving and its response from the helpful.

Wouldn't it be a fine round off for all participating in the glorifying of Christmas in Los Angeles, before the great day itself dawned, to be able to say with thankful hearts: "We have provided for another year's wants—the Community Chest is full?"

TREES AND RAINFALL

Trees will save civilization, says Dr. N. A. Davis. Desert was once heavily wooded and supported a mighty people. Mesopotamia is credited with a like history. But the land was denuded of trees and today weird sand dunes shift in the desert winds.

Germany, with a small fraction of the territory of the United States and a population much denser per square mile, keeps one-third of her area in forests.

When the Pilgrims landed in America, we had 82,000,000 acres of virgin forests. Lumbermen and campers have reduced this area to about 100,000,000 acres. We are cutting 8,800,000 acres a year and are burning up half as much in addition. Today but 10 per cent of our national domain is in timber.

San Pedro is said to import more lumber than any harbor on earth. New York State imported $75,000,000 worth last year, and once that State was heavily wooded. This country sends $11,000,000 worth annually to Canada for pulp for our papers and books.

A growing maple tree is said by experts to throw off more moisture in a day than does forty-acre lake. Seventy-eighths of this is pumped up by the roots from the depths and discharged into the atmosphere. It is not difficult to see why trees and rainfall go together. The Sahara is bordered by three oceans and yet is the greatest desert on earth. It takes more than an ocean to bring rain.

Nebraska was once a buggy, blizzard State. Then reforestation began. With the trees came the birds. Now it is estimated that the birds of Nebraska eat up 174 carloads of insects daily. The bugs are gone and cyclones have largely disappeared.

Before reforestation Nebraska had between twelve and thirteen inches of rainfall. Today that State has thirty-three inches. And it is said to be the only State in the Union not crying for rain relief.

Damning California canyons is adventurous and temporary. It is possible for us to commit suicide with an ax!

The Irreconcilables

PACIFIC GROVE, Dec. 10.

[To the Editor of The Times:]

Our Senators, at the behest of a bunch of "irreconcilables," have for a decade past hesitated to permit this country to accept its share of the responsibilities and benefits offered by the World Court as now established, and of which a prominent American jurist is one of the judges.

Now comes President Hoover and asks the Senate to take the necessary action and let this country do its bit, joining the court and adopting the consistent course of reducing armament in accordance with the decision.

But certain Senators hesitate to make any advance in the direction desired unless the public is first "morally and mentally prepared." This is already done! The man in the street, so far as I know him, needs no further argument to convince him of the utter idiocy of war and its inefficiency to attain any desirable end whatsoever.

He knows that if individuals can settle private disputes and difficulties by reference to justice, quarrels among nations can also be settled by justice. Let our Senators do their bit to further President Hoover's efforts to terminate world anarchy and give us a warless world instead of a lawless world!

Christmas Vacation

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 10.

[To the Editor of The Times:]

Permit me to make a suggestion to the Board of Education, or whoever it is who sets the dates for the Christmas holidays in our schools.

It couldn't be much more absurd than it is now. Instead of letting the kids have a week or so after Christmas to enjoy their presents, which certainly seems the one sensible thing to do, the school authorities are giving the kids a week of school to have a good time—Thursday and Friday.

I presume the Teachers' Institute, coming just before Christmas, is the reason. But when we consider the hundreds of thousands of kids, all turned loose on their mothers for nearly two whole weeks before Christmas with nothing to do but wait for Santa Claus, and then as soon as he comes, herd the kids back into school again, it seems to me that it is a very peculiar and absurd holiday period. Maybe somebody can enlighten me.

MRS. FANNIE SANDERSON

Carbon Monoxide

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 29.

[To the Editor of The Times:]

The other evening I noticed something which should be remedied in a city the size of Los Angeles. With some other people I had occasion to use one of your east and west tunnels. Naturally the traffic heading toward town was quite large, and was piling up in the tunnel faster than it could be removed during the time the signal at the end of the tunnel allowed traffic to move out of the tunnel. At the time that I arrived there, there must have been sixty to a hundred cars in line waiting and moving ahead with the cars in the tunnel.

The danger was bad, but the real danger lay in the fact that all the cars were leaving their motors running and the good air in the tunnel had been and was being used up faster than the ventilation would replace the foul air. With that many cars producing carbon monoxide continually, and with more cars coming in to take over the work of using up all the oxygen available, as the cars would leave, it was no wonder that we could feel somewhat of the effects of carbon monoxide poisoning before we reached the end of the tunnel.

There are several ways by which the city could prevent such a congestion in the tunnel producing the effects mentioned, but the only practical and inexpensive way that I see, is to have the policeman who has charge of traffic at the ends of the tunnel instruct the cars to leave the tunnel as soon as they are through, and to have the policeman who has charge of traffic at the ends of the tunnel instruct the cars to leave the tunnel as soon as they are through, and to have the policeman who has charge of traffic at the ends of the tunnel instruct the cars to leave the tunnel as soon as they are through.

BETTER LOOK OUT

Paul W. Chapman, the Chicago banker who has bought the Shipping Board's Atlantic fleet, was discussing Chicago's best war.

"The bootleggers," he said, "are sure of victory. They have beaten the time war, and they expect to keep on beating her, but well, I can't help thinking of the man with the wolf-hound."

"A man went to Canada with a wolf-hound to catch wolves. On the first day out a wolf was sighted, and the wolf-hound went after it. He trekked on after them. On he went, and on he went. Hours passed, and nothing happened; but finally he met a native son."

"Friend," he said, "did you see a wolf and a dog go by?"

"I did so," said the native son, "about two hours ago."

"How were things shaping? Was the dog up to him?"

"Up to him? Better not that," said the native son. He was a bit ahead."

HURRAH FOR SMITH

BY ALMA WHITTAKER

You see, there have been no many arguments as to why it shouldn't be done, couldn't be done, and mostly never is done outside of the movies.

But thank God, an Ed Smith has done it. It was the most thrilling news in the morning paper. You know, when those three bandits held up the Bank of America branch at One Hundred and Eighth street, and had the whole start with their hands up, Ed obviously had all his wits about him, seized a mere ghost of an opportunity, dashed for his gun and fired.

Like a regular hero. Bless his heart, he has restored our confidence in masculinity. We were so very afraid that all the heroes were in pictures. I'm glad his name is Ed Smith.

Just a regular ordinary sort of name that might belong to any nice chap. It wouldn't have been nearly so satisfying if he had been a Merle Montague Arbuthnot, or something stylish like that.

After months of reading about lone bandits holding up whole trains, scaring whole bank staffs, petrifying hundreds of people in cafes, etc., we had almost despaired of seeing a man do it. One bandit with one gun seemed capable of freezing up every bit of ordinary pluck in pretty well any sort of a male.

But here is Ed matching his wits against three bandits, with three guns, and routing them summarily.

Once in a while I have said, "I wish I was up in a company of males." Oh, but when a credit has the drop on you the only thing to do is comply. What is the use of risking your life in a case like that? You'd be dead and the bandits would get the money anyway. It's the usual argument. "It's all very well to talk, but any man would hold up his hands and let it go at that."

It is that case, Ed evidently was not quite sane on this thrilling occasion. He was insane enough to think fast, act quick, and show that a bandit has as much pluck and rather better brains than a bandit after all.

Ed, every blessed woman in the whole community is grateful that you weren't too disgustingly sane in that crisis. You see, we do so yearn to believe that men really are protectors and that bandits have not corralled all the courage. Hurrah for Ed.

ATTORNEY IN CONTEMPT FOR HANDLING WINE JUG

A. Bricham Rose, attorney, was committed to the County Jail yesterday by Municipal Judge Wood for contempt of court following his failure to comply with the court's instructions not to handle a jug of wine, evidence against a woman whom he was defending. He was released on a writ of habeas corpus issued by Superior Judge Aggeler immediately after being booked.

In Judge Wood's court, Rose was defending Mrs. Rosey Culas of 1910 Albion street, accused of possession of 200 gallons of wine, seized in a raid on her home by police under Officer Gibson. The jug was part of the wine seized, according to Deputy City Prosecutor Fox. When theft preferred against him in connection with the Ripley promotion. Mrs. A. W. Mills, 4121 Wilshire boulevard, told the jury of eight women and four men that she invested $40,000 in the venture. She said she understood she was to receive real estate in exchange for her money, but got only a stock certificate.

Mrs. H. L. Hamilton of the Hotel Chateau testified she gave Hamilton $2500 in a similar deal, while she picked up the jug. Judge Wood said: "Put that down; it might explode." Rose complied, but later picked up the jug again and, after he had assigned the judge's remarks as prejudicial to the interests of his client, was cited for contempt. Fined $20 with the option of spending a day in jail, he refused to pay the fine.

Mrs. Culas was found guilty of possession but was granted a new trial by Judge Wood, who immediately dismissed the complaint against her under Section 28 of the Penal Code, which makes a husband responsible for misdemeanors committed by his wife in his presence.

Mrs. May M. Allen, 2214 Reservoir street, said she turned over several hundred dollars to him.

County Association Session Today Will be Attended by 250 Civic Leaders

Representing every leading community in Los Angeles county, nearly 250 civic leaders will gather at the Chamber of Commerce at noon today for the annual meeting of the Association of City Planners. The meeting was called by President-elect C. J. S. Williamson as an informative session to give the planners an outline of taxation procedure in this county and reasons for following certain methods.

County Assessor Hopkins will be the principal speaker at the meeting, discussing the taxation subject for the planners, and his talk will be followed by an address on civic beauty by John C. Austin, vice-president of the chamber and a prominent architect.

The meeting will be the first at which President Williamson has presided, he having been elected only a few days ago. In 1934 he organized the association, serving as secretary-treasurer for two years, and while assistant secretary of the Regional Planning Commission was loaned to Santa Barbara to take charge of planning during the reconstruction period following the earthquake. For the past three years he has been manager of the real estate and civic development department of the local chamber.

The county association is one of the largest and most active in the state, having a membership of 900 and conducting monthly meetings at various cities when subjects of civic interest are discussed.

CITY PLANS TO BE TOPIC AT MEETING

County Association Session Today Will be Attended by 250 Civic Leaders

Representing every leading community in Los Angeles county, nearly 250 civic leaders will gather at the Chamber of Commerce at noon today for the annual meeting of the Association of City Planners. The meeting was called by President-elect C. J. S. Williamson as an informative session to give the planners an outline of taxation procedure in this county and reasons for following certain methods.

County Assessor Hopkins will be the principal speaker at the meeting, discussing the taxation subject for the planners, and his talk will be followed by an address on civic beauty by John C. Austin, vice-president of the chamber and a prominent architect.

The meeting will be the first at which President Williamson has presided, he having been elected only a few days ago. In 1934 he organized the association, serving as secretary-treasurer for two years, and while assistant secretary of the Regional Planning Commission was loaned to Santa Barbara to take charge of planning during the reconstruction period following the earthquake. For the past three years he has been manager of the real estate and civic development department of the local chamber.

The county association is one of the largest and most active in the state, having a membership of 900 and conducting monthly meetings at various cities when subjects of civic interest are discussed.

Two airplanes capable of flying 5400 miles nonstop are being constructed at the Emsco Aircraft Corporation's plant in Downey for flights from the Pacific Coast to Japan. It was learned last night from C. F. Rocheville, head of the Emsco aircraft plant.

"I am not at liberty to reveal secrets that the other plane men who these plans are for," Rocheville said. "They are being built, however, with trans-Pacific flights as an objective."

Rocheville admitted that the Emsco organization has been negotiating for one of the open cockpit, middle-wing monoplane with the Pacific Aeronautical Research Foundation of Seattle.

BUNKO SUSPECT SENT TO PRISON

Jack Hawley Given Term of One to Ten Years

Long Police Record Shown in Course of Trial

Defendant's Young Wife in Hysterics in Court

Jack Hawley, 32 years of age, convicted of attempted grand theft in connection with a take home race betting scheme, was sentenced to the State Penitentiary at San Quentin for a term of one to ten years in the penitentiary at San Quentin.

As the sentence was pronounced Hawley's young wife, sitting in the spectators' seats in the courtroom, collapsed in her chair and burst into a fit of hysterical weeping. Hawley was led from the room by a deputy sheriff and taken to the County Jail to await transportation to prison.

OLD BUNKO GAME

Hawley was found guilty by a jury in the court of Judge Victor on November 25, after a trial which lasted for three days. Records of the case Frederick Wolfe met the defendant under the name of McDill at Long Beach. While the pair were walking along the street they found a purse. A man named Munsey appeared as the owner of the purse. During the conference following Munsey told the finders of the purse how a lot of money could be made by betting on horses. Later the three met by appointment at Santa Monica.

At the Santa Monica meeting Munsey produced a piece of paper showing each was betting $5000 on a horse race. Later he came back with the news that they had won $20,000 on the bet, but before they would be paid it would be necessary for them to show they had $10,000 in the bank as a pledge of good faith. Inasmuch as Wolfe and Hawley did not have the $10,000, they said, according to the rules of the betting syndicate they would be given five days to place the money in the bank in pledge of good faith.

ONLY $200 NEEDED

Of the amount to be raised Hawley was supposed to have put in $200 and Munsey $800.

Wolfe had purchased a steamship ticket for Denmark and was on the eve of leaving when he met Hawley. In trying to raise his share of $200 for the "bet," he told the steamship officials what he wanted the money for, and they advised him to notify the police.

Hawley after his arrest admitted his dealings with Wolfe and Munsey but asserted he had been taken in by the scheme, as was Wolfe. Hawley's police record, however, showed he had worked bunko games of one kind or another since 1929 and he had been arrested from Vancouver, B. C. to San Diego, according to the records presented to the court. One record showed he had served eighteen months in the State reformatory in Washington. The records also showed many aliases, among them, John McDill, Jack Lynn, Crutcher, Jack Crutcher, Jack Crutcher, J. E. Scott, Robert Hale and John Harris.

The greatest thrill of the trip, the actor said, was when he visited the underworld in Berlin. Ludwig Berger, director of the same study last year, was to spend Christmas with relatives in Berlin. He will return early in February.

EVELYN BRENT PLAYS NEW LEAD

Fox Films Ben Ames Williams' "Very Practical Joke" Lasky Engages Stage Actors for Chevalier Picture; Henry Walthall Signs Long Contract With Fox

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

Now Evelyn Brent and Regis Toomey are to return to the sort of picture which was responsible for their first screen triumphs, namely a crook play.

Both were signed yesterday to play leading roles in "Framed," which R-K-O. is to produce. Regis Toomey is to start about Friday. Paul Schofield wrote the story.

Mrs. Brent was brought to America from England to play leading roles opposite Douglas Fairbanks, but after being in Hollywood six months without working, she was asked to be relieved of her contract. Accomplishing this, she has been working on the old F.B.O. lot, where she appears in many pictures. Now Mrs. Brent returns to the same studio, which, since her early work there, has changed hands, and is now the R-K-O. studio.

Regis Toomey, of the stage, first scored heavily in United Artists' "Alibi," since which time he has been very successful.

Two other important players have also been engaged. "Framed," they are Maurice Black and William Holden.

George Archambault is to direct "Framed," as his first R-K-O. directorial effort.

VIETTEL TO DIRECT FEATURE FOR FOX

When Ben Ames Williams' engaging story, "A Very Practical Joke," goes into production at the Fox studios, it will have as its director no less able a guide than Berthold Viertel.

Viertel was supposed to direct "The Daisies," but has been switched to the production of "The Big Parade."

George Menzies, who wrote "Burke's," is making the screen and dialogue version of "The Big Parade" of a "Very Practical Joke."

While it is not yet definitely settled who will play the leading roles in the picture, it was announced that certain hints which have come to us that these parts will fall to the capable hands of Mae Clarke and William Harrigan.
